Case Writing and Teaching Method Workshop

On June 7 and 8, Quest International College successfully organized a two-days Faculty Development Program on Case Teaching and Writing Methods with support from the University Grants Commission (UGC). The workshop brought together more than 50 faculty members from over a dozen colleges representing different universities, creating a collaborative platform for enhancing teaching and case-writing skills in higher education.

The program featured Prof. Dr. Hasmukh Gajjar from IIM Indore, India, as the keynote resource person, alongside renowned experts from Nepal. Through interactive sessions, practical exercises, and expert discussions, participants gained valuable insights into developing high-quality teaching cases, incorporating case-based learning into classrooms, and adopting innovative teaching methodologies to promote critical thinking and experiential learning. The workshop also encouraged knowledge sharing and collaboration among educators from diverse academic institutions.

The program concluded with positive feedback from participants, who appreciated the practical learning experience and expert guidance. By strengthening faculty competencies in case writing and case-based teaching, the initiative reaffirmed Quest International College's commitment to academic excellence, innovation, and continuous professional development in higher education.

Quest Incubation Centre Demo Day

On June 19, the Quest Incubation Centre organized its Demo Day, providing students with an opportunity to present their entrepreneurial ideas and showcase innovative product prototypes. Prior to the event, participants received mentorship and consultation from experienced industry experts through multiple training sessions, helping them refine their ideas and develop practical business solutions. The initiative reflects the Centre's commitment to fostering innovation and entrepreneurial thinking among students.

The Demo Day concluded with inspiring presentations that highlighted the creativity, problem-solving abilities, and entrepreneurial potential of the participants. As a flagship event conducted every batch, the Quest Incubation Centre continues to nurture young innovators by providing a platform to transform ideas into viable ventures and promoting an entrepreneurial mindset among the next generation.

Post-Budget Discussion Session

On June 20, Quest Finance Club successfully organized a Post-Budget Discussion Session to help students gain a deeper understanding of Nepal's Fiscal Year 2083/84 budget. The event provided a platform for students to engage with experienced industry professionals Mr. Upendra Malakar, CEO of Machhapuchchhre Capital Limited and academic experts Mr. Nirajan Basnet, Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Management, Tribhuvan University, fostering meaningful discussions on the country's economic outlook and the practical implications of the newly announced budget.

The session concluded with an interactive question-and-answer segment, allowing students to clarify key budget provisions and their potential impact on businesses, investments, and the overall economy. The discussion enhanced participants' financial awareness and encouraged them to critically analyze national economic policies from both academic and professional perspectives.

Clean-Up Campaign

On June 5, in celebration of World Environment Day, the Quest Social Club organized a clean-up campaign around the historic Patan Krishna Mandir. The initiative brought together students and faculty members, who actively participated in cleaning the surrounding area while demonstrating their commitment to environmental conservation and community service. The annual campaign reflects the college's dedication to promoting environmental awareness and social responsibility among its students.

The campaign concluded with a renewed commitment to protecting the environment and encouraging sustainable practices within the community. Through initiatives like this, the Quest Social Club continues to inspire students to become responsible citizens and contribute positively to society beyond the classroom.

AI for Learning, Productivity & Career Growth

On June 20, we organized an insightful session on "AI for Learning, Productivity & Career Growth" for BCSIT students. The session was facilitated by Ravindra Yadav, who shared practical insights into the transformative role of artificial intelligence in education, personal productivity, and career development. The program aimed to equip students with the knowledge and tools needed to leverage AI effectively in both their academic and professional journeys.

The session concluded with an engaging interaction where students explored practical AI applications and discussed the opportunities and challenges of integrating AI into their daily lives. It inspired participants to embrace emerging technologies responsibly and highlighted the importance of continuous learning to stay competitive in an AI-driven future. The event served as a valuable platform for empowering students with future-ready skills and perspectives.

Year-Long Stock Market Training Program

Starting in June, the Quest Finance Club launched its Year-Long Stock Market Training Program, a comprehensive initiative designed to develop students' knowledge and skills in the capital market. Open to Quest Finance Club members as well as students from any college, the program offers structured training in both Fundamental Analysis and Technical Analysis. Conducted every Friday from 12:00 PM to 2:00 PM, the sessions provide participants with step-by-step learning, covering everything from basic concepts to advanced market analysis techniques.

The year-long training program reflects Quest Finance Club's commitment to promoting financial literacy and investment education among students. By combining theoretical knowledge with practical market insights, the initiative aims to equip participants with the analytical skills and confidence needed to make informed investment decisions and build successful careers in the financial sector.

Fun Friday

Every Friday, Quest International College organizes Fun Friday, a vibrant campus initiative that provides students with an opportunity to showcase their entrepreneurial, culinary, and creative talents. Through business product exhibitions and food stalls, students gain practical experience in marketing, sales, teamwork, and customer engagement while fostering a lively and interactive campus environment.

Fun Friday encourages participation from students across all academic programs, promoting interdisciplinary collaboration and skill development. Students are free to explore both business and culinary ventures regardless of their field of study, allowing them to discover new interests, apply classroom learning in real-world settings, and strengthen their confidence, teamwork, and entrepreneurial mindset.

Quest Carnival 2026

Beginning on May 25, Quest International College launched Quest Carnival, one of the institution’s major extracurricular initiatives designed to foster creativity, critical thinking, and practical skills among students. The carnival features a series of engaging competitions, including Ad Making, Quiz, Public Speaking, and Case Study competitions, providing students with diverse opportunities to showcase their talents beyond academics.

Prior to the competitions, the college organized specialized mentorship sessions for each event, inviting industry experts to share their knowledge and experiences. These sessions guided participants on key concepts, preparation strategies, and important considerations relevant to their respective competitions. Following the training, students were given adequate time to refine their skills, develop their ideas, and prepare confidently for the competitive events scheduled during the first week of June.

Quest Carnival reflects the college’s commitment to holistic student development by combining learning, mentorship, and healthy competition. Outstanding participants will be recognized and rewarded with certificates, gifts, and cash prizes based on the nature of the competition, encouraging excellence and celebrating student achievement.
